This was an amazing show with incredible displays. The pre fab homes, Plús Hús, and Blu Homes in particular were very impressive. The effort they took to display in detail the potential of the innovative spaces were incredible, refreshing and very eye opening to many who have not been aware that such a thing exists. As always, there was also amazing exhibits featuring building material, wall panels in various designs, counter tops, sound proof none-toxic paint, and various other products. I found some of these functional, made of durable material, and leaning towards a green and sustainable theme, in addition to being visually beautiful. When most building material is known to contain chemicals, to find that there are other possibilities was refreshing and interesting. The whole show featured a lot of detailed information, from history, to progress. In general, it offered a very innovative approach design on many levels. Thinking and living outside the box seemed to be a theme. I thoroughly enjoyed the fair.. In reviewing it, I even became a customer!
